KOWLOON-CANTON RAILWAY

The Kowloon-Canton Railway regrets any inconvenience caused to local passengers during the unprecedented rush to Canton on the Double Tenth.

Kowloon Station on that day was surrounded by huge crowds of potential through passengers and it was considered by the Management that the only way to ease a very difficult situation was to run extra through trains at the expense of the Local Service.

Notorious Gossip

Early in December the following notice appeared in a bookseller's windows in Scotland: "Buy your Christmas gift books now, so that you may read them before posting."

* * *

Marie: "Are they in love?"

Mozie: "They must be. She listens to him describe a ball game and he listens to her telling how her cousin's new dress was made."

* * *

"Is your husband a bookworm?"

"No, just an ordinary one."

* * *

Georgina: "You only married me because my aunt left me some money."

George: "Nothing of the kind. I'd have married you whoever had left it to you."

A stranger was dining in Aberdeen. When the meal was over he handed the waiter a penny tip.

The waiter looked at the coin in his hand. "Do ye ken, mister," he said, "that the champion miser in Aberdeen gies me tuppence?"

The stranger held out his hand smilingly. "Here," he said, "shake hands with the new champion."

* * *

"I've got a unique Louis XIX bed."

"But there was no Louis XIX."

"That's what makes this bed unique."

"Waiter, these are very small oysters."

"Yes, sir."

"And they don't appear to be very fresh."

"Then it's lucky they're small, ain't it, sir?"

The park orator looked around him.

"You, my friend," he said, gazing intently at a member of his audience, "are you treading the straight and narrow path?"

The man nodded. "I am."

"And do you find it easy?"

"When I started I didn't, but now it comes naturally to me. I don't know how I'd get on if I didn't stick rigidly to it and keep my mind on nothing else."

"And will you explain to these ladies and gentlemen why you feel you should continue on the straight and narrow path?"

"Certainly. If I didn't I should fall off. I'm a tight-rope walker."

* * *

Dad: "Do you know what has happened to my shaving brush? I've lost it."

Tommy: "No, but Johnny's wooden horse has a new tail."

* * *

Johnny: "Dad, they say the Saar has gone to Germany now."

Dad (busy reading): "Something like that, son."

Johnny: "But what will the Russians say?"

Dad: "The Russians! What have they got to do with it?"

Johnny (puzzled): "But I thought the Saar was the King of Russia."—

Manager: "From your references I see you've had four places in the last month."

Applicant: "Yes, sir, but that shows how much in demand I am."

The Captain: "You are reported as being up long after 'taps.' What have you to say about it?"

The Private: "I turned in early enough, sir, but the bugler sounded 'taps' so loud it woke me up."

ROYAL AIR FORCE

Rapid Expansion

London, Oct. 11.

Excellent progress is being made with the programme of expansion of the Royal Air Force announced last May.

Already sites have been definitely chosen for twenty out of the thirty-two new stations required, and measures are in train to make them ready for service by March 1937, when the programme is due to be completed.

The sites of three out of six new armament training camps have been selected, and five additional flying training schools have been formed. The enrolment of pilots and recruiting generally is regarded as satisfactory.

Manufacturers are making a big effort to execute contracts for new machines, and in some cases arrangements have been made for other firms to build under licence, special types, the manufacturers of which cannot immediately expand their plant sufficiently to enable them to provide the required output themselves.—

CAUTION URGED

London, Oct. 11.

About forty Conservative M.P.'s and Peers were present at a private meeting at the Constitutional Club which unanimously passed a resolution appealing to the Government not to advocate or be a party to any sanctions "which are in any way likely to lead to war." CABINET RESIGNATION IN POLAND

Warsaw, Oct. 12.

The Slawek Cabinet resigned on Saturday afternoon and the President, M. Moscicki, asked the former Home Minister, M. Koscialkovski, to form a new government.

The Slawek Cabinet's resignation has been expected for some time since it has fulfilled its task of carrying out constitutional reform and holding elections under the new electoral law.

It is officially announced that the payment of approximately five million Swiss francs has been made by Germany to the League of Nations Secretariat for dues which have been in arrears owing to the transfer difficulties.

TO GET RID OF
STOMACH TROUBLES
An English Doctor writes :—
"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."
(Signed) Dr. H. G——, M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.
THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why 'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

NEWS FROM THE WAR FRONTS

Reported Desertion Of Abyssinians

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Rome, Oct 11.

On Thursday the Abyssinian General Gugsa, commanding the Eastern section of the Tigre region on the North front, went over to the Italian side with some thousands of troops, according to an Italian report from the front issued on Friday by the Propaganda Minister.

Gugsa is known to be a personal enemy of Ras Seyoum, commander-in-chief of the Northern Army. Gugsa's action continues the report, was shortly afterwards followed by Ras Kassa Araia with his men.

The list of casualties published for the first four days of fighting gives 30 dead, of which five are Italians, 70 as wounded, 20 being Italians and 33 native soldiers missing. One field gun, one machine gun and 134 rifles and thirty ammunition containers have been captured from the enemy, states the report, which however makes no mention of prisoners.

No military action was reported for two days, which elapsed since the last report was issued, it being merely stated that various vanguard skirmishes occurred with the Abyssinian detachments on Thursday in the course of the advance of native troops, and the communications were consolidated, and the construction of roads continued, while water supplies were improved.

On the South Front, the report states that numerous cases of desertion of Abyssinian troops to the Italian colours have taken place, and asserting on the other hand that the reports by the foreign press of the desertion of the Italian native troops are untrue. It is also untrue that an Italian airplane was brought down near Axum. Within the next few days the report concludes, the Italian Headquarters will be transferred to the occupied territory.—Transocean Kuo Min

VIOLENT BATTLE

Addis Ababa, Oct. 11.

It is reported that the vigorous Abyssinian counter-attack on Adowa has developed into a violent battle for other positions along the northern front, occupied by the Italians, accompanied by heavy losses on both sides.

Many rumours are current that Ras Seyoum's troops have taken a great many prisoners and captured a large quantity of war material. Other reports speak of heavy artillery and air bombardment by the Italians, preparatory to making a renewed infantry assault. Since the telephone between Addis Ababa and Adowa was not working it was difficult to confirm any of these reports.

PLANE BROUGHT DOWN

From Wareno, situated north of Harrar in the province of Issa, comes the report that one of the two Italian planes which flew over the vicinity was brought down by rifle fire, both the pilot and the observer, and the little dog which they had as a mascot being killed. On the southern front, in the province of Ogaden, the Italians appear to be making preparations for a big attack, according to a despatch from the commander of the Abyssinian south army, who reports a great concentration of tanks and artillery as well as planes in the Ball sector.

Hitherto no large scale action had been taken in the south front owing to the Abyssinians avoiding to come into grips with the Italians whose advance had been hampered by guerilla warfare tactics. About 20,000 volunteers from Wallamo arrived here with their wives and baggages in order to offer their services to the Emperor, and are now encamped outside the capital, awaiting instructions.

LEGATION COMEDY

The foreign minister handed the Italian minister a Note on Thursday withdrawing all diplomatic agreements which expire on Saturday. Count Vinci took cognisance of the Note though protesting in writing against the allegation that the Legation's radio transmitter had been used since the opening of hostilities, and agreed that the whole of the Legation staff would leave the capital on Saturday morning. He himself, however, declined to depart until the consular agent from Magallo had arrived. His request to remain in Addis Ababa until this official had arrived was declined by the Emperor who is also expected to refuse the application for an audience which the Minister made.—Transocean Kuo Min

ITALIAN STRENGTH

Berlin, Oct. 11.

The strength of the Italian forces who in three columns began to advance on October 3, into Abyssinia, is stated to aggregate 110,000 men with 2,300 machine guns, 230 cannons, 92 tanks, and 35,000 horses and mules, according to a report on Friday by a semi-official German news agency's special correspondent at the Italian front in North Abyssinia.

The report adds that each Italian detachment is accompanied by experts familiar with the conditions in Abyssinia and who are entrusted with the task of propagating the Italian aims among the native population in occupied territories.

These experts are mostly former Askaris who served with the Italian Colonial Army and subsequently settled on the border districts.—Transocean Kuo Min

HAVARIATE IMPATIENT

Addis Ababa, Oct 11.

Tired with cooling his heels at Geneva, and burning with ardour to be at the front, the Abyssinian delegate to the League of Nations, M. Havariate who is one of Abyssinia's most capable generals, and a graduate of the former Imperial Russian Military Academy of St. Petersburg, has repeatedly requested the Emperor to recall him from Geneva, and entrust him with a military command.

It is now announced that the Emperor has complied with his request. Havariate will be replaced at Geneva by Minister Blatingeta Waldomarian, whose name was prominently mentioned sometime ago in connection with the ramous Rickett concession.—Transocean Kuo Min

CHIEFTAIN DESERTS

It is officially announced by the Italian authorities at Asmara, in Eritrea, that the powerful chieftain Hailé Selassie Gufza, ruler of the Makale region in Eritrea, has deserted to Italy with 12,000 men and 12,000 rifles and 100 machine-guns.

The Ethiopian leader, Ras Seyoum, has reappeared suddenly to the east of Adowa, it is admitted. He is reported to be leading a considerable force of irregulars and is menacing the Italian lines. Reuter.

ROME'S SATISFACTION

Rome, Oct. 11.

News of the desertion of two Ethiopian chieftains has been received in Rome with considerable satisfaction where it is regarded as the first fruits of the Italian policy to win over sections of the population to the Italian side. As the Italian advance proceeds the stream of deserters is expected to swell.

Simultaneously with the military operations, political officers have begun to try to persuade the Ethiopians of the advantages of Italian rule.

OFFENSIVE STATIONARY

News from Ethiopia indicates that the Italian troops are consolidating their lines of communication on the Northern Front, where another advance will not be made for a fortnight.

The offensive appears stationary on the Somali front, where the Italians are on the defensive.

There is no news whatever from the Southern Eritrean front, where an Italian column has occupied Mount Moussaali and is proceeding in the direction of D'redawa and the Addis Ababa railway.—Reuter.

MONARCHY IN GREECE

Full Rights To Be Restored

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Athens, Oct 11.

The decree issued on Friday once more grants the Royal family full rights to Greek nationality of which they had been deprived after the overthrow of the monarchy in December 1923. After the National Assembly had last night, in the absence of the Republican group, resolved to abolish the Republican regime, entrusted Kondylis with regency, confirmed the date of the plebiscite on November 3, and again put into force the monarchist constitution of 1911, the Cabinet met in order to draw up the programme until the King's return.

The programme envisages the strengthening of national defences and the lowering of taxes for the working classes. The Government furthermore, issued a proclamation to the population in the Republican stronghold. Crete, appealing to them for patriotism and laying stress on the resolution passed by the National Assembley.

Contrary to earlier reports, President Zaimis has not yet tendered his resignation. The Premier Kondylis, accompanied by the acting premier, Theotokis, called on Zaimis on Friday and informed him of the events which led to the restoration of monarchy. This leaves Zaimis no alternative but to draw the necessary conclusion and resign his post which in effect, had already been abolished by the National Assembly.

The former foreign minister, Maximos, has accepted the Government's request that he should continue to act as Greece's representative in Geneva.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist

This was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 13, 1935.

The Golden Text was: "The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw. And Jesus. . . . said unto them. Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand: But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kindom of God is come unto you. Or else, how can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods?, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his House." (Mat. 22. 25. 28, 29).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science testbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Our Master asked: "How can one enter into a strong man's house and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man? In other words: How can I heal the body, without beginning with so-called mortal mind, which directly controls the body? When disease is once destroyed in this so-called mind, the fear of disease is gone, and therefore the disease is thorough cured. Mortal mind is "the strong man," which must be held in subjection before its influence upon health and morals can be removed. This error conquered, we can despoil "the strong man" of his goods,—namely, of sin and disease." (P. 399).

PROCEEDINGS AT GENEVA

Arms Embargo To Be Enforced

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Geneva, Oct. 11.

The draft recommendations of the first sanctions which were drawn up by a small committee of thirteen have already been adopted by the plenary co-ordinating committee on Friday. It has been decided that the embargo already imposed on the expor. of arms to Italy and Abyssinia shall be lifted as regards Abyssinia.

Secondly, the remaining states shall institute an embargo on the delivery of arms to Italy. Thirdly all states, in imposing or retaining the embargo on Italy, shall adopt a list of munitions embodied in the Neutrality Bill which was passed by the United States Congress on August 31, enumerating arms and other commodities falling under the American embargo on exports to belligerents.

A small committee had set up a sub-committee of military experts to examine the "Roosevelt" list with a view to its eventual extension. As regards the arms and ammunition embargo, it is not proposed at present to institute any form of control. On the British delegate's initiative, the financial sub-committee will meet on Saturday in order to examine the questions of prohibition of loans of any kind, including the ordinary commercial credits as well as the cessation of all import and export trade with Italy or its subjection to some other scheme of quotas.

The Co-ordinating Committee, it is affirmed in British quarters, is in full agreement that concrete measures must be applied with all speed.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ALBANIA BACKS OUT

Geneva, Oct. 11.

The League Assembly held another plenary meeting on Friday in which it was decided that the Assembly will adjourn but not dissolve so that it may be called on short notice in case of emergency, especially since the majority of the members are remaining here to take part in the deliberations of the Co-ordinating Committee.

The sitting was attended by the Italian delegate who later in the afternoon left for Rome. The session opened with a short address by the Albanian delegate who somewhat belatedly had expressed his desire to make a statement. He declared that Albania would remain loyal to the League but that owing to her close political and economic relations with Italy, she regretted that she would not be able to co-operate in the measures decided upon by the League.

The president, M. Benes, in his closing speech, said that fifty member states had agreed and four—Austria, Hungary, Albania and Italy—had objected to the Council's decisions. He concluded in a conciliatory note by expressing the hope that the two parties concerned in the dispute may soon avail themselves of the Council's good offices for the purpose of restoring peace.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NO DALLYING

Geneva, Oct. 11.

So far there has been no dallying, declared Mr. Anthony Eden, British Minister for League Affairs, broadcasting to British listeners on the work of the League of Nations to-night.

Already fifty nations have given practical expression to their desire to bring the Italo-Ethiopian war to an end, he went on.

"We cannot afford to delay when men are being killed and homes shattered. Nowhere would there be more rejoicing than in Britain if Italy were to turn to ways of peace.

"But we have undertaken solemn obligations, and therefore, we shall not shirk. A prompt beginning has been made, and as far as the British Government is concerned, as we have begun, so we shall persevere," he asserted.—Reuter.

A LONG TIME

Rome, Oct. 11.

"We have been a long time preparing to meet the effects of sanctions and are therefore not unduly alarmed," Reuter was informed by authoritative quarters to-day.

The Italian spokesman added that armaments manufacturers would have to sell on credit to Ethiopia, as Italy does not believe there is much money at the disposal of the Emperor Selassie.—Reuter.

GERMANY AND MEMEL

It would not be surprising if Memel proved to be the reason for Herr Hitler's summoning the Reichstag for Sunday. Elections to the Lithuanian Diet take place on September 29, and last month the Government issued new laws clearly directed against German-speaking inhabitants of Memel. No citizens may vote at the elections who have belonged to separatist organisations banned within the last five years, and since the majority of Germans in Memel are separatists they are automatically disenfranchised, and will therefore lose the control they have enjoyed over the territory. If the Germans in Memel have brought some of these troubles on themselves the Lithuanian Government's action to remedy evils are highly unconstitutional, and Herr Hitler may think the time has come to make fresh protests.

"NOTTINGHAM LAMBS"

Nottingham is the home of a kindly, hard-working people. Perhaps it is as well that they have so handsomely redeemed the city's old reputation.

This political history book has more than one reference to the "Nottingham Lambs." Four long years these roughs were the terrors of the neighbourhood. They were particularly active at election time.

Nottingham men, in fact, used to be considered a turbulent lot. They sympathised with the French Revolution and they took a big hand in the Luddite outrages.

They also burnt Nottingham Castle, because its owner, the Duke of Newcastle, opposed the Reform Bill. For that achievement three men went to the scaffold, and the town had to pay the Duke £21,000.

Like his brother Duke, of Wellington, he had, however, no trust in the civic tears of repentance. Instead of rebuilding his castle for some later mob to destroy, he put the cash in his pocket.

A WOMEN ASPIRANT

In connection with the choice of a successor in November to Edinburgh's Lord Provost, Sir William Thomson, no fewer than nine names have now been mentioned. That it is a woman, Councillor Mrs Morison Millar, whose name is the latest suggestion, adds colour to a situation in which aspirants for the highest civic honour seem to be in embarrassing quantity. Mrs. Millar has served in the Town Council since 1919, and has proved a capable chairman of the Public Health Committee.

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

CASINO DE PARIS

Nearly all screen musicals have one song which is outstanding, but when more than one scores a hit in the same production, its more than likely that Harry Warren and Al Dubin are the song writers.

In the First National picture, "Casino de Paris" booked to be screened at the Queen's Theatre at an early date, with Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler heading the all star cast, there are seven songhits. The two big Bob Conolly dance numbers in the picture centre around "A Latin from Manhatten" and "About A Quarter to Nine" both of which are sung by Ruby and Al. Then there's the heart rending torch song, "The little things you used to do" sung by Helen Morgan in her plaintive way. Al Jolson, acknowledged the greatest "Mammy song" singer of all times, introduces a new style mammy song by the title of "Mammy, I'll sing about You".

There's nothing oldfashioned, really, about the song "Have an Old-fashioned Cocktail With an Old-fashioned Girl," the way Ruby Keeler sings and dances to it.

"Casino De Paris" is the title song of the New York night club that Jolson owns in the film and he sings this theme song a new verve.

CAR 99

The exploits and adventures of the Michigan State Police, most famous of the nation's crime hunting forces, is the subject of "Car 99," the Paramount picture scheduled to open at the Queen's Theatre soon, with Fred MacMurray, Sir Guy Standing and Ann Sheridan heading the cast. Packed with thrills and mile-a-minute action, this is a colourful and authentic picture of what these peace-time soldiers must encounter in the performance of their arduous and often dangerous duty. The stern sense of loyalty and devotion which this force inculcates in its men is revealed in the career of Fred MacMurray who plays a rookie trouper. Urged by the girl he loves, he joins the force and soon distinguishes himself by bravery in the apprehension of criminals.

Throughout the stirring episodes of "Car 99" there is a pleasing note of humour, principally carried by the extremely capable and jovial William Frawley as a trouper lieutenant. Adapted from the series of short stories by Karl the Saturday Evening Post, the picture was directed by Charles [illegible] which recently appeared in [illegible] Barton.

LILIES OF THE FIELD

Judy Gunn has been doing startling things all her short life. At fourteen she was the youngest of all the pupils at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

At seventeen she was leading lady to Bobby Howes, one of the greatest of Britain's light-comedians.

Now, aged nineteen, she begins her attack on the film world with an important part in "Lilies of the Field," the new British and Dominions' comedy which is at the King's Theatre on Wednesday. She plays twin sister to Winifred Shotter, who stars in the film.

This new screen personality was born in Burton-on-Trent when she played in local dramatic shows before being sent to the Academy of Dramatic Art.

Repertory work followed and with it a contract from Leslie Henson. She made her London debut in a small part in "Business from America" and caused one entnusiastic reviewer to compare her with Diana Wynyard!

It also caused Bobby Howes to offer her the lead opposite him in "He Wanted Adventure," at the Saville. The part called for fencing and singing and although July had never done these things before in a stage performance she rose to the occasion and made a great success

POPULARITY CHART

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

One of the devices of the American Democratic organiser for judging the President's popularity is a graph which professes to record "newspaper bias" throughout the United States.

The graph has two curves, one showing the Presidents personal popularity, and the other the popularity of his Administration.

Last November the "personal" curve showed that 70 per cent. of American newspaper opinion was favourable to the President. It remained at this figure until March.

Since that date it has fallen considerably, reaching a lowest level of 21 on April 30 after his radio "fireside talk." It is now wobbling between 40 and 50.

Previously always much higher than the administration popularity line, it is now on the same mark.

"AIRPORT"

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

The Air Ministry has decided to give official recognition to the word "airport" to express in a single word, the type of air base at which Customs facilities are available and which can be used for immigration clearances. All other such places may not use any other designation than aerodromes.

The word "airport" came from America, where it has long been used to describe many types of airdromes and landing grounds.

Most of our municipal landing grounds are elevated to the dignity of airports as soon as they can show they have sufficient air traffic of a serious commercial type to warrant the expense of maintaining a Customs officer permanently; or if they have a seaport Customs officers who can be in attendance on demand.

THE ALHAMBRA

Orchids To You

"One of the most unusual romantic dramas ever to come out of Hollywood" was the way a previewer described "Orchids to You," the current attraction at the Alhambra Theatre, and when I went across the harbour to see it yesterday, I found myself in entire agreement with the previewer in question.

The leading roles in the film are taken by John Boles and Jean Muir while that ever-popular Charles Butterworth also has an important part—in fact some may even hold that he "stole" the film which is a great compliment when it is remembered that the two "leads" are such capable players.

John Boles who plays the role of a clever society lawyer gives a good performance. He works his hardest to oust a pretty girl florist from her prosperous business and the way in which he first wounds her and then wins her is recommended as a thoroughly sound "post-graduate course in love."

"Orchids to You," is good entertainment and as there are two very acceptable "shorts" preceding the feature film, the current fare offered by the Alhambra is recommended.—F. M. A.

POPULAR NOVELIST

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

Since James Hilton's Good-bye, Mr. Chips," was made the "Evening Standard" Book of the Month, a year ago, the author's popularity has risen in a startling fashion.

He tells me that his "fan" mail now numbers well over 200 letters a month. Most of them come from America.

Mr. Hilton is about to leave for Hollywood, in order to supervise the making of films of "Mr. Chips" and "The Lost Horizon"—the novel which won him the Hawthornden Prize.

He has been embarrassed by endless requests to lecture while in the State.

"Mr. Chips" ha now been translated in almost every language save Rumanian.

Rumania considers this gentle story of an English schoolmaster "too American."

"SHE"

Excellent Fare

The long-awaited RKO-Radio production, "She" opened its season at the King's Theatre on Saturday and the unanimous opinion of all those who saw the picture was that it was indeed worth waiting for.

"She" finds its appeal in the fact that though it is based on a fantastic theory it is able to engender a sence of reality in spectators. The Kingdom of Kor may never have existed save in the Haggard genius but on the screen its existence is visible in spectacular proportions. The verisimilitude of the production is really startling, and, reviving as it does the spectacle picture, it may be that "She" will inaugurate a new cycle of great magnitude films.

Featured with Miss Gahagan, whose attractiveness is admirably suited to the title role, are Randolph Scott, Helen Mack, Nigel Bruce, Samuel Hinds, Lumsden Hare, Noble Johnson, Gustav Von Seyffertitz and a horde of extras and bit players.

CLAN CHIEF DIES IN CANADA

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

A descendant of Robert the Bruce, Mr. John de Lotbiniere Macdonald, 22nd Chief of the Macdonalds of Keppoch, has died in Montreal at the age of 77.

Mr. Macdonald had lived most of his life in Canada, and had distinguished family tree on both his father's and mother's side. He was a grandson of the late John Macdonald of Garth, last surviving partner of the old historic North-West Fur Company.

The house of Keppoch descends from Alastair Carrach of the Isles, Lord of Lochaber, third son of John, Lord of the Isles, and of the Princess Margaret of Scotland, daughter of Robert II. and granddaughter of Robert Bruce.

In 1889 the younger branch of the house, which had continued the line of chiefs of Keppoch, became extinct in the male line, and after 300 years the chieftainship returned to the Achnancoicheans, the eldest branch of the Keppochs, of which Mr. Macdonald was the representative.

LOUDEST RADIO STATION

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept 25.

Soviet Russia, with one eye on Hitler's use of the microphone for propaganda purposes, is going in strongly for "radio armaments."

Work is almost complete on the Chadinka station, and shortly it will begin broadcasting. When it does what it cares to say will be heard all round the globe. It will be the loudest-voiced radio station in the world. To give you an idea how loud—London Regional is 50 kilowatts; Chadinka will be 2500 kilowatts.

It will be capable of broadcasting on all wavebands, and when it does it will totally blackout the transmissions of a dozen stations each side of the waveband it thinks fit to use.

It will broadcast in 20 languages, and will be heard on the simplest set in any part of the world. To ensure that it will be directed with utmost efficiency it will be under the control of Dimitroff, who figured prominently in the Reichstag fire case.

FIREWALKING

Young Indian's Display

London, Sept. 25.

A demonstration of firewalking, which is still practised by natives at religious ceremonies in India and elsewhere, provided an unusual and exciting spectacle in the garden of a private house here this afternoon. The firewalking was done by a young Indian, Kuda Bux, in the presence of members of the University of London Council for Psychical Research and other scientific observers.

Firewalking, in the countries where it may still be seen, is associated with varying degrees of religious fervour and ritual, but its essential feature consists in walking barefoot, with immunity from burning, over the glowing embers of a fire in a long trench. It is done in India by priests, fakirs, and other ascetics; and the practice is also known in Bulgaria, New Zealand, Japan, Fiji, Tahiti, Trinidad, Mauritius, and Honolulu. Some people who have witnessed it (as was indicated in a correspondence in "The Times" last year) incline to the belief that natives who walk about without any foot covering acquire a toughening of the soles of the feet which explains the immunity from injury in firewalking. Others who have investigated the subject do not share this view.

FIRE FAITH

To-day's demonstration enable a number of critically minded people to make their own observations. Kuda Bux, who submitted himself to examination, is a Kasmiri Mohamedan, 30 years of age and weighing about 8½ stone. He said that the first practised firewalking in India when he was 14 years old. He asserted his ability to perform the firewalking ceremony on the strength of his faith that the fire would not harm him—and he did it twice without receiving any injury which could be detected.

INTENSE HEAT

The fire was contained in two trenches about 12ft. long, both trenches being 6ft. wide and 8in. deep. The materials used in preparing the fire included seven tons of oak logs, a ton of firewood, a load of forest-burnt oak charcoal, and 10 galons of paraffin. When the demonstration was given the fire trenches had been burning for about eight hours and the charcoal, which had been put on the top, was fanned by a high wind to intense heat. The surface heat was measured by an instrument and was stated to be 800deg. Fahrenheit.

Bare-footed, Kuda Bux walked twice along the length of one of these 12ft. fire trenches, his feet making contact with the burning embers for some five seconds each time. After both walks his feet were examined by Professor Pannet, Director of the Surgical Unit at St. Mary's Hospital, who found no scorching or other trace of injury. Under the arch of Kuda Bux's right foot Professor Pannet has previously placed a piece of court plaster, and ever that was not scorched. The recorded temperature of the man's feet immediately he had passed over the fire was the same as before he started.

Kuda Bux declared that he was not conscious of the heat as he walked over the fire, although he appeared to be as susceptible to the heat as other persons when standing near to it. Professor Pannet was of opinion that there was no unusual toughness or thickening of the soles of the man's feet.

Kuda Bux was invited to do the firewalk a third time and to walk the full length of both trenches—one of which was at the end of the other with a narrow division between—but, he asked to be excused. He appeared to have become mentally and emotionally disturbed by the scientific tests and apparatus and by the critical curiosity of the audience. His own explanation was that "the faith" had gone out of him.

PAINFUL ATTEMPTS

Attempts to walk the fire bare-footed were made by two other young men present, and both of them took only a couple of steps along the hot embers before jumping off with their feet considerably scorched and blistered. One of those who made the attempt was Mr. Digby Moynagh, editor of St. Bartholomew's Hospital Journal.

A medical man present, who has seen the ceremony of firewalking as practised in villages in Southern India, expressed the opinion that the test was made under unusually severe conditions which would have deterred most firewalkers. "The trench," he said, "is shallower than is customary and with the high wind increasing the surface combustion and blowing away all the ash the heat is far more intense and is transmitted without any insulation. The test was too severe, and although Kuda Bux boldly did the walk twice he eventually seemed to realize that under the conditions it was physically impossible for him to do the firewalking properly. I do not think there can be any question of a fake about it."

HAJI'S NINE SONS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

The Haji of Turangzai, against whom Brigadier Auchinleck is carrying out large-scale operations, is almost a legendary figure on the North-west Frontier.

As far back as the oldest journalist in India can remember the Haji, his nine sons (all of whom are called Badshah Ghul) and the Fakir of Alingar have figured prominently in tribal disturbances.

This has gone on for so long that doubts have been cast on their very existence.

SYMBOLIC FIGURES

"What is the Fakir like?" people have often asked.

Is he short or tall? Bald or hairy? And the nine Badshah Ghuls?

No answer to these questions has ever been forthcoming so that the Fakir, the Haji and his nine identically named sons have come to be symbolic figures, immortal trouble-makers, rather like the late T. E. Lawrence in the imagination of romantic wiseacres.

Since his deposition Amanullah has played a somewhat similar role.

SIMLA TALK

In connection with these latest frontier disturbances, for instance, a certain type of person in Simla taps his nose, looks knowing, and suggests that the ex-King of Arghanistan has been financed by Mussolini to foment them.

Mussolini has a good deal of financing on his hands at the moment, and Amanullah is so discredited that his possibilities in the way of fomenting frontier disturbances are very small indeed.

NOT EVEN ONE BITE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

A woman has recovered damages for a dog-bite. This case should effectively quash the popular delusion that "every dog is entitled to one bite."

The legal assumption is that a domestic animal is not dangerous, and the owner is not liable for any mischief it commits if he has no knowledge of its vicousness.

But this does not absolve the owner from a duty to see that the animal is under proper control.

NEPIA'S SUCCESSOR

When the news came that the All Blacks had dropped Nepia, the marvelous full back of 1924, Rugby enthusiasts in this country wondered if the New Zealand selectors were wise.

Whether Gilbert will be quite as consistent as his great predecessor remains to be seen. Certainly not even Nepia could have improved on Gilbert's debut against Devon and Cornwal.

His place-kicking and drop-kicking were equally deadly, as his six goals testify.

THE "STRATHMORE"

A Passenger's Impressions

"A passenger who made the run round to London in the new P. & O. luxury liner "Strathmore" after the speed trials on the Clyde offers an interesting account of the trip.

This is no need for me to tell, he writes, of the triumphant passing of the speed and other trials of the "Strathmore," because this has already been fully reported. But I am sure that future passengers who may give little heed to whether the ship made a top speed of 22 or 22.100 knots will be very much concerned to know what sort of behaviour they may expect of the liner when she is called on to encounter a bout of nasty weather. On the run round to London—and especially the first part, to Land's End—the "Strathmore" (and her passengers) had every opportunity of trying out their respective sea-going qualities.

It was already blowing up into a hard gale when the ship steamed down the Clyde, and as wind and sea were dead ahead, we have a fair sample of what the ship could do in the way of "pitching." She didn't do a thing, or so little in that line that most of the passengers sat round comfortably smoking, sipping drinks, playing cards or chatting in complete oblivion of anything nasty in the way of weather coming up.

It was only the venturesome ones who emerged from the cosy snugness of "indoors" to indulge in "a breath of fresh air" round the promenade deck or up on the boat deck who guessed what was happening. The wind was blowing 50 or 60 m.p.h. and the ship was steaming into it at about 20, so that the "breath of air" was raking the ship at an accumulated 70 to 80 mile force. It needed both hands hanging for dear life to the rail to keep one's feet at all.

All the passengers had turned in comfortably and were soundly asleep before the ship swung and began to run South with an increasing wind and sea abeam. Through the night she was making round about 21 knots in spite of wind and sea.

PERCEPTIBLE ROLL

In the morning there were a perceptible roll on, but it was so slow, so easy and steady that it was only noticed if you looked out through portholes and windows and saw the rail heaving gently up and down against the background of grey sea in a heavy swell.

This continued all morning, with wind and sea steadily increasing and the ship driving on through the gale. At the points where we came closer inshore, and especially as we neared Land's End and ran into the full sweep of the open Atlantic's rollers, we could see the waves smashing on the rocks and leaping in fountains of boiling spray; and to seaward the procession of racing waves looked majestic, awe-inspiring or qualm-creating or according to how you felt about it.

Yet, so easy was the motion of the ship that I am sure few of the landsmen aboard realised how realy bad a sea we were running through. Even during the morning up to lunch time, a string of press men made their way down the series of perpendicular ladders into the engine room and were shown round in a heat and scent of fried oil that is not to be recommended in the sea-squeamish; and did it all without palpable suffering or discomfort.

FULL TABLES

We turned the next corner round Land's End just about lunch time, and with wind and sea now almost astern, the slight rolling smoothed out and the dining saloon filled up to about its normal full complement.

The dining saloon of the Strathmore, I may explain, is somewhere down in the "bargain basement" or lower of the ship's decks. These, counting down from the boat deck, are named, A.B.C.D. etc., and the dining saloon is well down into this alphabet and the ship's interior.

I had rather wondered why one had to run down so many flights of "stairs" or descend past so many decks in the lifts to reach lunch or dinner; but after a few meals there I understood. That saloon I should think is the most free from any suggestion of movement or even vibration to be found in the whole ship. If any future passenger in the "Strathmore" when she is running through a hard gale feels—to put it mildly—disinclined for food, I'd advise him or her to take the life down to the dining saloon, and after an aperitif and a slight pause have a look at the menu . . and then enjoy a meal.

We had full tables in the saloon that night, and a packed house at the cinema show in the evening. Then, after a pleasant chatty hour or two of smokes and drinks we turned down to bed again.

In the morning I woke to drink the cup of tea the steward brought, slept on another hour, got up and glanced through the port-hole to see wind-lashed seas and grey sky, and did not know for the next hour that we were comfortably anchored in the estuary of London River waiting for the tide to turn and take us up to Tilbury.

"BEAUFORT SCALE"

At lunch, the Commander made a little speech, told us that we had come through rather a bad gale and that in all his life-time's experience of ships he had never known one stand up so well and comfortably to bad weather. He quoted the logged figures of the "Beaufort Scale" force of wind we had fought, and other details which conveyed little of understanding to most of the passengers. What did impress us all however was the fact that in spite of the bad weather, we were to come alongside the landing stage at 4 p.m. that day instead of about the 4 a.m. next morning we had been due.

Actually we only realised what we had come through so comfortably when we landed at Tilbury and read the newspaper posters and headlines of "Gale-Swept Shores," "Storm-Lashed Coast," "Channel Steamers' Stopped," "S.O.S. from Off Ireland," "Gale's Havoc in the South."

Some of us are still bragging that through all that "Gale Havoc" and "Storm Lashing" we didn't miss a meal or a minute's sleep. That, when you think of it is no small compliment to the sea-going and gale-resisting qualities of the good P. & O. ship "Strathmore."

Leung Mui, aged 21, a house servant, was on Saturday sentenced to three months' hard labour by Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court for the theft of one pair of gold cuff-links two pairs of jades ones, one gold bracelet and two wrist-watches, to the total value of $120, from his employer, Mr. D. The "Gazette" contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Volunteer Ordinance, the principal object of which is to substitute an Air Arm for the Flying Section of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps and to enact provision in the Volunteer Ordinance, 1933, and the regulations thereunder appropriate to this unit. The cost of training members of this unit will be considerable. It is considered therefore that they should engage to serve for periods of four years at a time, and not merely for three years as is the case in the other Corps units.

If they cease, without permission, to serve in the unit during any such period they will be required to refund the cost to the Government of their training in that period up to a maximum of $500. Similarly they will be required to make a refund in respect of any year in which they do not complete the requirements of efficiency, which will be at least six flying hours per quarter.

The new section 28A, providing for medical attendance in a Government Hospital for wounds, injuries or illness incurred whilst on duty on terms similar to those granted to Government Officers, is applicable to all members of the Corps and not merely to members of the Air Arm.

Clause 6 makes certain changes in the principal Ordinance as the result of suggestions contained in the War Office letter of the 29th September 1933 enclosed with the Secretary of State's despatch of the 9th November 1933.

Section 7 makes a reduction in the allowances which will be made to officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers attending courses of instruction in the United Kingdom.

HERIOT CLUB DINNER

Mr. J. R. Kinghorn, President of the Hong Kong Heriot Club, presided at an interesting function on Saturday night at the Gloucester Hotel when members of the Club were hosts to representatives of Edinburgh Schools at a dinner.

The guests who represented the various seats of learning in Auld Reekie were welcomed by the president who in the course of his speech referred to one of the recent dinners of the Club when a suggestion was made that the mutual help and friendship resulting from the Hong Kong Heriot Club dinners was worth sharing with others, and it was arranged that this representative gathering should be the forerunner of an Annual Edinburgh Schools' Dinner.

In replying to the toast of Our Guests, Sir Atholl Macgregor in a witty speech recalled incidents in his earlier days with Heriotes and congratulated the members of the Hong Kong Heriot Club on the manner in which they had arranged the function.

PIPE SELECTIONS

During the course of the evening pipe selections were rendered by Messrs. Watson and Cumming, while the Haggis was "piped in" in the traditional manner.

FULL GLORY OF CHINESE ARTISTRY

The International Exhibition

The International Exhibition of Chinese Art, to be held under the auspices of the British and Chinese Governments at Burlington House from November 1935, to March, 1936, has by the cooperation of the Chinese Government secured a most remarkable collection of more than eight hundred objects representing the full glory of Chinese artistry over a period of some thirty-five centuries. The vast majority of the objects are from the Imperial collections formerly housed in the Peking Palaces (Forbidden City), and they include a comprehensive series of masterpieces associated with the most glorious epochs of the country's cultural history. The standard throughout the collection is that of Imperial quality, and a very large number of the pieces were made for palace use in the Sung, Yuan, Ming and Ch'ing Dynasties and bear commemorative inscriptions. Not one piece has ever been shown in Europe.

RITUAL BRONZES

The chronological order begins with the ritual bronzes of the Shang-Yin and Chou Dynasties. These two dynasties, in which myth ends and history begins, cover a period of some fifteen hundred years, ending shortly before the building of the Great Wall and the burning of the classics in the third century B. C. It is surmised that the ritual bronzes, used for making offerings to ancestors and deities, were developed from pottery forms in daily use. They include jars and goblets for wine (probably made from millet, the grape having been traditionally introduced in a later period), pots for cereals and the flesh of animals, and various utensils of strange and sometimes sinister form, the uses of which are not known. These bronzes are wonderful examples of metal-moulding in spite of their great age: having been made by the same cire-perdue process used by Cellini and other great bronze-masters of Europe, the surface required no smoothing and the outlines no sharpening after removal from the mould. Some of the actual bronze-moulds used in prehistoric times will be included in the Exhibition. Among the vesse's in the collection are some with inlaid ornamentation of gold, silver or turquoise.

REMARKABLE JADE

Jade is one of the great traditional materials of the Chinese craftsman, and it is fitting that the collection should contain some remarkable examples. Probably the most outstanding is a set of three seals connected by chains; the whole cut from a single block of the most rare yellow jade. Green, blue-green ("kingfisher") and white jade are all well represented. The collection contains some specimens of the ancient ritual symbols and tablets. These were made of jade owing to its supposed property of collecting the beneficent influences of Heaven.

PORCELAIN SECTION

The porcelain section is particularly rich, and contains examples of wares and patterns not previously known in Europe. A hundred and twenty-nine pieces chosen from fifteen different wares are ascribed to the Sung Dynasty (A.D. 960-1279); the period in which the beginning of full mastery of this beautiful material was reached. Sung Chun ware is noted for its lovely gradations of colour between grey and purple, through numberless intervening shades of blue. Kuan (Imperial) and Ju wares are also famed for their coloured glazes; in which the crackles usually present are more the product of art than of the hazards of firing. Ting yao must be mentioned among the loveliest of the porcelain produced at this time, but experts disagree about the attribution of specimens to this famous ware. The green-glazed celadons, first made in imitation of jade, became famous during Sung times, and were shipped abroad in great numbers. It is possible that some of their popularity was due to the belief that any food containing poison which was placed in a container of celadon (Lung-ch'uan yao) would immediately betray the fatal ingredient. Celadon was thus in great demand at the courts of princes. The most famous of the celadon kilns were the two establishments of the brothers Chang. Their work was much appreciated by posterity, being commended and copied under successive emperors until the end of the 18th century. Many of these later celadons are found in Occidental collections. The large numbers of archaistic pieces made during the Ch'ing Dynasty (1644 onwards) were frequently the result of a very deep admiration for the great achievements of the past, rather than any hope of commercial gain. Such reproductions often bear the mark of the later period in which they were made, and are usually recognizable by the brilliant white of the porcelain under its coloured glazes.

In 1127 the Sung empire was divided by the invasion of the Chin Tartars, and the capital was moved south to Hangchou; traditionally one of the most south to Hangchou; traditionally one of the most beautiful and luxurious cities of its time. Marco Polo has left a description of this city, with its wonderful system of canals and ornamental water spanned by 12,000 stone bridges. The famous kilns were re-established after the Imperial migration, and Southern Sung ceramics are of high quality, although they are said to be inferior to the finest of the early works.

After the Yuan period of Mongol rule, ceramic forms, colours and technique changed in a brilliant renaissance of art which took place in the early days of the Ming Dynasty. The subtle and hardly-visible incised ornament of celadon and Ting was replaced by painted designs and pictures in underglaze blue, and a frequent use of coloured glazes and enamels. A distinguished product of this period is the Precious Stone Red (pao-shih hung) traditionally but incorrectly believed to have been made from powdered rubies. A tendency toward "sophistication" in form and decoration continued through the following Ch'ing (Manchu) Dynasty, until the extreme of craftsmanship and technical skill was reached, finding expression in pieces of marvellous dexterity known as "devils' work" (Kuei-kung) but losing the serene beauty and dynamic symmetry of the early pieces.

All three periods are worthily represented in the three hundred and fourteen pieces of the porcelain section. An interesting exhibit is a lovely Narcissus-pot of Sung Ju ware, inscribed with an Imperial ode, which was sent by the Emperor of the Yung-cheng period (A.D. 1723-1735) to the "porcelain city" of Ching-te Chen, so that the master potter Nien Hsi-yao might copy its peerless glaze. A specimen piece with the reproduced glaze is also included, and thus is marked an interesting chapter in the history of ceramics.

The final preparations for the Scouts' concert organised by the 4th Hong Kong (Murray) and 4th Kowloon (Garrison) Troops which will take place at the China Fleet Club next Wednesday have proved very successful.

The local office of the Dollar Steamship Lines advise having received advices from their head office to the effect that their Round-the World steamers will call at Suez and Mediterranean ports, including Italian ports, as per their schedule.

OLD COMRADES

Annual Dinner Held

After a lapse of four years the Royal Engineers' Old Comrades Association revived their annual dinner on Saturday night at the Hongkong Hotel which proved to be an unqualified success.

Among the 214 guests were the serving officers and other ranks of the Royal Engineers, ex-Royal Engineers and members of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps.

Lieut.-Col. H. M. Fordham, C.R.E., presided in the unavoidable absence of Col. E. St. G. Kirke, D.S.O., the Chief Engineer and President of the Association and was supported by Major R E. C. Dixon, M.C. R.E., Chairman of the Association and others.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

After the usual loyal toast had been honoured, the Chairman expressed regret that the President was unable to be present and said in part:—

"The Hong Kong branch was resuscitated on May 30, 1935, when a general meeting was held, 36 members being present.

"Since that date the numbers of members have grown rapidly, and the present strength of the Branch is well over 200. This result, after over four months is, I think you will agree, very pleasing. The strength of the civilian membership is 29, which is a little disappointing, in view of the number of ex-R.Es. in the Colony. It is hoped that more will join.

"We have started an employment agency. Some 50 firms have been circulated, informing them of the re-opening of the branch, and asking them to apply to this Association if there is a vacancy on their staff. Many firms, we found, were prepared to do so. A register of members wishing for employment in Hong Kong has been opened.

THE SOCIAL SIDE

"On the social side we have not been idle. Open-air whist drives have been held fortnightly throughout the summer and will continue under cover during the winter. "Dances are going to be arranged throughout the winter, commencing in the near future. It is hoped that all members will do their utmost to come along and bring all their friends.

OFFICIALS THANKED

"The flourishing condition of the branch is largely due to the hard work of our Chairman, Major Dixon, the Secretary, Q. M. S. Staples, the Treasurer, Sgt. Betts, and Sapper Woolgar.

The Chairman concluded his speech by giving the toasts of "The Corps" and "The Royal Engineers' Old Comrades' Association," after which the toast of "The President", was proposed by Major B. E. C. Dixon, M.C. R.E.

FUNDS FOR FOUNDING A HOSPITAL

Chinkiang, Oct. 13.

Once more indicating his enthusiasm in the public welfare work, Mr. Hu Wen-hu, the Chinese magnate promised yesterday to donate funds for founding a hospital to be attached to the Kiangsu Provincial Medical College here.

The industrial magnate arrived here yesterday morning from Nanking, where he attended the ceremony for unveilling of a bronze statute of himself, which was erected by the Central Hospital at the hospital campus, as a memento of his generous donation of $400,000 for founding of a medical laboratory. After his arrival, he called on Mr. Chen Kuo-fu, who entertained him at a dinner party at the Provincial Government Building yesterday noon.

In the afternoon, Mr. Hu visited the Kiangsu Provincial Medical College and other Government organs and the scenic spots in the Provincial Capital. He was greatly impressed by the progress made in administrative and reconstruction work here. Noticing the Kiangsu Provincial Medical College has no hospital, where student may do practice work and give medical aid to the populace in Chinkiang, Mr. Hu generously consented that he would donate funds for founding of such a hospital for the College.

He returned to Shanghai at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon by train.—

HONG KONG, OCTOBER 14, 1935.

A HEALTHIER NATION

The annual report of the Ministry of Health is a bulky document. The current issue, covering the year which ended on the 31st of March, 1935, runs to three hundred pages. To the ordinary reader, who is not familiar with statistical material and official papers, it is a formidable volume. Consequently the people who peruse it are comparatively few. This is a pity. Because, apart from its sociological and historical interest, it is really a fascinating work. Read with some little imagination it is a moving picture of vital events in the life of the British nation during the period under review.

One of the most outstanding facts which emerge from a study of this report is that the British people are enjoying better health than they have ever known before. During the past twenty-five years, which is exactly the length of the present King's reign, the general improvement in the health of the nation is greater than during any similar period in recorded history. The past quarter of a century has seen outstanding scientific achievements in many fields; there has been a great development in the health and social services and great progress in the education and intelligence of the people as a whole. The interest now taken by all members of the community, of both sexes and of every class, in such matters as health and physical well-being is phenomenal.

In two important respects the year 1934 was a record health year: the death rate from all forms of tuberculosis and the infant mortality rate both the lowest on record. Since 1910 infant mortality has decreased from 105 per thousand to 64. The death rate among children between the ages of five and fifteen has fallen from 2,491 per million to 1,882. The death rate among children from infectious diseases has shown a striking decline. The rate per million for Measles fell from 750 to 201; for Scarlet Fever from 200 to 63; for Diptheria from 384 to 261; and for Whooping Cough from 798 to 237. Thousands of lives are thus being saved annually. Incidentally, and bearing particularly on this point, the number of Infant Welfare centres has increased during the past fifteen years from 1754 to 3186.

There have been important developments during the past twenty-five years in the National Health and Insurance Schemes. Last year there were 16,450,000 persons insured in England and Wales, and 16,500 medical practitioners ministered to their medical needs. During the past ten years more than £150,000,000 has been paid out in sickness and maternity benefits, and more than £90,000,000 in medical benefits. In addition, more than £53,000,000 has been expended on "special" benefits. The number of persons receiving Old Age Pensions at the end of last year was 664,000, and those receiving Widows Pensions were 657,000, supplemented by 271,000 additional allowances in respect of children.

An interesting section of the report is that which deals with housing. In the years immediately preceding the Great War the provision of new houses had fallen off considerably. During the War years the building of houses practically ceased. At the Armistice there were about eight million houses. This figure has now been increased to about ten and a half million. Of the new houses, 790,000 have been produced by local authorities with the help of state subsidies, and 1,425,700 by private enterprise without subsidies. In addition, slum clearance schemes have been started to destroy 116,300 slum houses. A special section of the report deals with the problem of town and country planning, and the information this gives comes as a surprise even to many students of social affairs; for about 15,500,000 acres, or more than two-fifths of the area of England and Wales, are now subject to some form of town-planning control.

The facts and figures given by the Ministry are impressive reading; but the most impressive fact, and one which cannot be put into statistical form, is the intelligent interest now taken in the subject of health generally. And this not merely from a personal but also from a social and a national point of view. That fact alone ensures that progress in this direction will continue, for an enlightened public will demand enlightened administrative measures to meet its needs.

If Gossip We Must

(By "CHANCE")

On Wednesday evening there was a dinner dance at Repulse Bay, and I wonder why more people don't go out there as it is so cool on these warm nights, and the surroundings lovely, the floor is good and the band was playing very well. A large party was given by Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Fordham, the latter looked very charming in pale yellow satin with brown. Mrs. Kirk was there in red and white, and her daughter, Brenda, looked very sweet in blue flowered chiffon, and Mrs. Cooper, who came with her husband, was attractive in green and white. Hermoine Beauclerk, who was in a small party, was very attractive in turquoise blue, and since her return from Wei-Hai-Wei seems to be having a very gay time. Lt.-Col. Dowbiggin also had a small party, and his daughter Joan was there, in a white and blue spotted organdie dress.

COCKTAIL PARTY

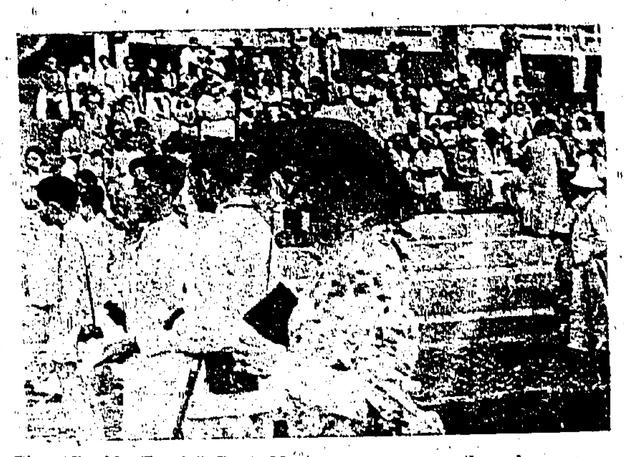
A most enjoyable cocktail party was given on Friday by the American Naval Officers in the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel, and there was a large crowd, of guests there, consisting chiefly of the British Navy. An American Naval band was playing continously, even when the lights fused for a short time. Mrs. Martin, who was looking charming in cream lace, was receiving the guests, and with her was Mrs. Palmer, in blue figured georgette, whose husband is the Chief of Staff of Destroyer Squadron 5. I also noticed Miss Palmer who was attractive in brown, and in the centre of a gay crowd. Mrs. Hill, wife of the Captain of the Black Hawk was charming in white. Mrs. Settle, who is the wife of one of the champion Balloonists in the world, was in printed crepe-de-chine. Mrs. Palmer, whose husband is navigator of the Black Hawk was in green and white. Mrs. Powell, who is the wife of the Commander of the Destroyer Division 15, was very smart in blue and white. Mrs. Schmidt I saw in the distance, she was looking lovely in light blue. Miss McAlister, who is paying us a short visit on her way to Australia, was very sweet in cream lace with touches of red. Mrs. Gordon Duff was there, beautifully dressed as usual, was in a long dress of old gold. Mrs. Marshall I saw, looking very well after her trip to Japan. Mrs. Hinton was looking so pretty and fresh in turquoise blue and white organdie. Rosalie Alabaster and her friend, Elizabeth Monkton were there, and Hermoine Beauclerk, who was in red, and Valerie Morris in blue and white. Mrs. Moore was enjoying herself immensely I think, and was attractive in a green and white printed dress, and Mrs. Kendall was in blue georgette with a smart little black hat. It was a most delightful party and the Americans are charming hosts. Later in the evening a large crowd from the Cocktail Party went on to the Roof Garden to have dinner and dance. The floor was crowded, and several large dinner parties were given that night, but I think it is a pity that the band disappears so often and for such long intervals.

AIR COMMODORES LEAVE

We were sorry to say good-bye on Saturday to Air Commodore Smith and Air Commodore Bowen, who have been on a short visit to Hong Kong, and we hope to see them here again shortly. They sailed in the Tilawa, and were accompanied by Squadron Leader Bladon and Fl/Lt. Stewart. They left the pier in the new R.A.F. motor launch, and amongst those there to see them off, Wing Commander Scott, who had just arrived from Singapore on the Hector and is staying here for a week, Wing Commander and Mrs. Bishop, Squadron Leader and Mrs. Keary, the Rev. John Jagoe, who returns to Singapore next Saturday, Fl/Lt. Anderson and one or two others. By the way, I hear on good authority that we are likely to have an Air Service home by Christmas, thus this "Far-flung Outpost" has some chance of getting on to the map.

THE DOUBLE TENTH RACES

The Double Tenth Race Meeting finished on Saturday, but the attendance was rather small, although I hear that the totalisator did well. Major General and Mrs. Thackeray brought a small party. Lady MacGregor I saw with Mrs. Sedgwick. Mrs. Coltart was there with her husband, who was wearing one of those fashionable Boaters, and she looked smart in brown and white. Mrs. Alexander looked delightful in a white pique suit and a very smart light blue hat, and watched the racing from the Club box. Mrs. Eccles was extremely smart in royal blue and white, as also was Mrs. Gibson in light blue. Miss Lammert was as lovely as ever in a blue and white check dress, and Miss Simmonds was very pretty in a linen suit and a small brown hat. Mrs. Stanton, who has just returned from a holiday was in pink. Mrs. Wilson, soignee as usual, was in white with an attractive black hat. Mrs. Potts was very smart in white, and a short orange coat, which suited her so well. Mrs. Morse was wearing brown, and Mrs. Hogg also. Mrs. Begdon was smart in black and white, and Mrs. Brown in black and yellow. Mrs. Conway, who came with her husband, looked very nice in blue, and also Mrs. Grist who was in light blue.



The "Double Tenth" Race Meeting was apparently a happy one for this lady punter.

CANTON CELEBRATIONS

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Oct. 13.

Hong Kong residents left here to-day after taking part in the three-day celebrations of the Double-Tenth Anniversary. They are plainly disappointed that the arrangement were not up to the Silver Jubilee standard in Hong Kong.

The parade and air demonstration were annual affairs, and there was nothing spectacular about them. There were the usual stunts by the fighting planes of the Canton Air Force, while "goose step" formed the major part of the parade.

River steamers and trains from Hong Kong were jammed with passengers. Many brought up sugar, tinned goods and other foreign products duty free, as during the rush it was impossible for the customs to make a thorough search.

BOMBING PLANES ACTIVE IN OGADEN AND DANAKIL

Ethiopians Buried Alive

MAKALE TO BE NEXT OBJECTIVE

Hopes Of Winning Over Ras Seyoum

Asmara, October 13.

Makale, which is believed to be the next objective of the Italian Northern Army, is now completely cut off by communications with Addis Ababa according to the Abyssinians who deserted with Ras Gugsa.

The Italian line on the northern front is now manned by 60,000 troops and extends straight from a point twelve miles east of Adigrat to eight miles north of Aksum. Men and machine supplies continue to be rushed to fill in gaps in the line as fast as absence of communications allow.

The troops from the front line continue to scour the countryside for the elusive Ras Seyoum whom the Italians hope to win over in similar fashion to Ras Gugsa.

Harar despatches state that when Italian planes bombed Gerlogubi, a detachment of Abyssinian infantry took refuge in a dugout. The detonations caused the dugout to collapse, burying thirty six alive.

Italian planes are also bombing a number of villages in the Danakil area near the eastern frontier and it is reported that many natives have been killed and wounded.— Reuter.

PRETENDER TO THRONE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 13, 4.30 a.m.)

Rome, Oct. 12.

Ras Gugsa's desertion has provided Italy with a welcome opportunity it offers to set up a pretender to the Abyssinian throne against the present Emperor. The Italian Press at any rate, takes great pains to prove that Gugsa is the rightful heir to the throne, and Haile Selassie is in consequence an usurper.

Gugsa's father, writes the "Tribuna," was the illegitimate son of Ras Kassai, of Tigre who was crowned as John IV, after the suicide of Emperor Theodore following his overthrow by the British in 1868.

On his death after a reign of 19 years, John was succeeded by the great Menelik II, who inflicted the severe defeat on the Italian Army forty years ago.

The paper insinuates that Menelik was involved in hastening John's death so that the real line of succession is represented by Gugsa and Haile Selassie, who is a descendant of Menelik, is an usurper.— Transocean Kuo Min.

VILLAGES BOMBED

Addis Ababa, Oct. 12.

No engagements of any importance took place on Saturday on the northern and southern frontiers, according to available reports here, which indicate that the Italians are still busy consolidating their positions in the north.

They made some progress along the Webi Shibeli River, and Italian airplanes continued to bomb some Abyssinian villages, without however undermining the population's morale. Everything seems to point to preparations being made by the Italians for an advance on a wide front in the south.

A picturesque parade of 35,000 warriors from the wild mountainous regions who volunteered for the front, took place here on Saturday before the Emperor, ending with thrilling trick riding and other demonstrations of their prowess.— Transocean Kuo Min.

ADOWA MEMORIAL

Rome, Oct. 12.

General de Bono has made his formal entry into Adowa and inaugurated the memorial to the dead in the 1896 battle.

The memorial consists of a marble column from Italy inscribed "To the dead of Adowa avenged 6-10-1935, XIII" (thirteenth year of Fascist regime).

After the ceremony General de Bono reviewed the Second Army Corps who captured Adowa.— Reuter.

ARMY DECREE

A decree has been published ordering the men of the 1914 class who have completed or are about to complete military service to remain with the colours until further notice.

This is taken to mean that no conscript will be released probably for the duration of the war.— Reuter

WAR PRISONERS

Asmara, Oct. 12.

A concentration camp for Abyssinian prisoners is being prepared at Mainini, and the 200 captured so far are being transferred thither.

The material captured by the Italians at Adowa is reported to include 50,000 Belgian cartridges with clips of the newest type and numerous ancient rifles of English and German makes.

SUBMISSION OF LEADERS

News of submission of local Abyssinian leaders is trickling in from all parts of occupied or menaced territory. The Italian advance is assuming the appearance of almost a peaceful colonial enterprise.

After contact with Generals and soldiers and visits to hospitals Reuter described the reports of huge Italian losses as nonsense.— Reuter.

THREAT TO RAILWAY

Rome, Oct. 12.

According to reports from Djibouti it is believed that the advance of three Italian columns is intended to effect a junction on the central Ethiopian plateau. The railway will probably be cut. Addis Ababa being thus isolated.

It is stated that the Italians are at present less than 50 miles from Harrar, from which the railway is reachable.

It is possible that the Italians will in any case allow railway work as far as Diredawa; on the other hand the Abyssinians themselves may cut the line, which is principally important at present for the transport of foodstuffs from the region of Harrar to the capital.

One of the factors facilitating the advance of the Italians on Ogaden is the ill-feeling of some natives owing to the confiscation of their foodstuffs by the Emperor.

The Abyssinians are strongly established at Makale, awaiting the Italian advance from Adowa. The third Italian column, which invaded Danakil, is pressing on to Aussa, but is hindered owing to the salting of the wells by the Abyssinians.— Reuter.

SWEDISH AMBULANCE FOR ABYSSINIA

EXPULSION BY FORCE

Italian Diplomats At Capital

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 13, 4.30 a.m.)

Addis Ababa, Oct. 12.

The curious situation created by the Italian Minister Count Vinci's unusual leave from the Legation, was effectively dealt with by the Abyssinian authorities on Saturday afternoon.

After the case had been discussed between the government, and diplomatic corps, an Abyssinian official, accompanied by an armed guard, forced an entrance into the legation and handed in to Count Vinci a communication by the Abyssinian Government in which it was stated that the Minister, as well as his Military Attache, Colonel Caldriani, must immediately accompany the bearer of the message to a private house which was out at their disposal until their departure from Abyssinia.

The Minister and his companion were then taken to the residency of Ras Desta, who is a member of the Imperial family.

The Legation has been closed and put under guard. It is understood that the two Italian diplomats will be put on the train leaving in the early hours of Sunday.

STAY EXPLAINED

Count Vinci had earlier in the day given out a written statement in which he declared that he is remaining in Abyssinia of his own free will, although his desire to await the arrival from remote parts of the country of his two consular representatives has not been approved by the Abyssinian Government.

The statement adds that he would not voluntarily submit to any measure taken by the Abyssinian Government.

Diplomatic circles here are somewhat puzzled by Count Vinci's action, it being pointed out that the Italian Government has instructed him to depart and that his "agreement" expired on Saturday forenoon.

The Count has thus lost his extra-territorial status and the Abyssinian authorities were justified in resorting to forcible measures.

ESCAPE FROM TRAIN

Another incident occurred on Saturday morning at the railway station when the train in which the other members of the Italian Legation were leaving was about to start. At the last moment the Legation's Second Secretary, Signor Degrenet jumped off and hurriedly left the station.

He was subsequently discovered hiding in a restaurant. After his revolver had been confiscated from him, he was put on the next train and escorted by guards to the frontier.— Transocean Kuo Min.

VIRTUAL PRISONERS

Addis Ababa, Oct. 12.

Count Vinci and Colonel Caldriani will be guests of the Government but virtually prisoners at the fortified house of the chieftain, Ras Desta, whither they were taken after having "surrendered." The house is situated five miles from Addis Ababa.— Reuter.

ABYSSINIAN FILMS IN AUSTRIA

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 13, 4.30 a.m.)

Vienna, October 12.

All Abyssinian films are forbidden in Austria by a decree which the Police Administration here issued on Saturday afternoon. The first film to be affected by the prohibition is the Ufa film entitled "Abyssinia, 1935" taken in Abyssinia during the period several months preceding the outbreak of hostilities.

Two other films, one shot by the Swiss flier Mittelholzer some years ago, and the other of recent date entitled "Peaceful Abyssinia," which were to have been exhibited shortly have been withdrawn.

The reason given by the police for this action is that "such films are likely to produce a false impression about Abyssinia among the population."— Transocean Kuo Min.

EMBARGO ON ITALIAN EXPORTS

Vigorous Appeal By Mr. Eden

Geneva, October 12.

Three League Committees spent to-day considering sanctions against Italy. Measures for a financial boycott which the financial sub-committee recommended are likely to be of little practical importance because Italian restriction of currency has already led to cessation of credit transactions, but at a meeting of the Committee of Seventeen, which is considering economic sanctions in general, it is understood that Mr. Anthony Eden made a vigorous appeal for an embargo on Italian exports as the third of the sanctions to be applied.

Mr. Eden pointed out that the League members jointly responsible are buying over 70 per cent. of Italian exports, and he argued that to cut these off will be a most effective embargo, especially if combined with the embargo on exports of certain key products to Italy. The French delegate strongly supported this view.

Mr. Eden also pleaded for expeditious application of effective sanctions.

A third Committe is dealing with the question of possible additions to the list of war materials on which an embargo is to be placed.—Reuter.

CAUTION URGED

Geneva, Oct. 12.

Proposing to the Committee of Seventeen a boycott of Italian exports, Mr. Eden suggested that the inconvenience caused could be minimised by some form of mutual assistance, and added economic pressure could also be exercised by withholding supplies necessary for Italy to wage war, but this will require careful examination and might take longer to realise.

A French technical expert agreed as to the efficacious effects of prohibition of exports, but warned against undue severity, especially as there was still some chance of conciliation. He suggested concentrating at present on key products.

M. Titulescu suggested an examination as to how the economic loss by boycotting countries could be minimised.

The British viewpoint was warmly supported by South Africa Belgium, Holland and the Little Entente.

It is hoped that the general discussion on Mr. Eden's proposal will conclude on Monday when the Committee reassembles.— Reuter.

ITALY PREPARED

Rome, Oct. 12.

Italian opinion, while rather apprehensive of the effects of sanctions on the economic position not only on Italy but the world as a whole, is quite resolute that the League's challenge must be faced.

Official circles hint that Italy has made all her preparations in the face of economic sanctions, but the preparations are kept a close secret.— Reuter.

ARMS SHIPMENTS

Paris, Oct. 12.

In anticipation of raising the arms embargo against Abyssinia, a number of ships carrying 3,000 tons of war materials, mostly ammunition, machine guns and rifles, left French ports within the last fortnight and are expected to arrive at Djibouti shortly for transport to Addis Ababa.

It is understood that the insurance, which amounted to thousands of pounds, has been taken in London.

Only a small amount of arms has been shipped to Italy from France so far and the embargo on Italy is not likely to make much difference to trade in war materials, but large orders have been placed for other goods for Italians in East Africa.— Reuter.

HITCH IN DISCUSSIONS

Geneva, Oct. 12.

The so-called Small Committee —which now have been joined by the Mexican delegate, thus numbering 18 members—will reassemble on Monday forenoon in order to consider the proposals for financial sanctions against Italy to be submitted by the newly appointed Drafting Committee. The Co-ordinating Committee will also meet on Monday when a decision may possibly be taken concerning economic measures on a larger scale.

Despite the secrecy surrounding the deliberations, it is understood that Mr. Anthony Eden is strongly in favour of the prohibition of all exports to Italy, insisting that immediate steps be taken to cut off the supply of the so-called "key" products, like coal and petroleum.

It appears, however, to be doubtful at this moment whether the other states are willing to push matters forward at such a speed, many signatories pointing to a hitch having occurred in the discussions.

BOYCOTT LOSSES

Considerable difficulties have been presented by the question of compensating the states which are more or less dependent on trade with Italy and are unable to face the unaided losses resulting from a boycott.

The delegates of these states refer to article XVI. section 3 which provides that members of the League must mutually support each other in financial and economic measures taken under Article XVI.

It appears that Soviet Russia, Turkey and Rumania are among the states claiming compensation under this provision.— Transocean Kuo Min.

MILITARY SANCTIONS

Paris, Oct. 12.

The question of military sanctions against Italy has never been raised in the course of conversations with the British Ministers, said M. Laval in an interview while on the way to his home in Auvergne where he is spending the week-end.— Reuter.

SOCIALIST OPINION

Brussels, Oct. 12.

The International Socialist congress attended by British delegates has approved the League's decision and telegraphed Dr. Benes, President of the League Assembly, saying that the workers believe that sanctions can stop hostilities.— Reuter.

TO LIFT EMBARGO

Geneva, Oct. 11.

The Co-operating Sub-Committee of the League of Nations has unanimously decided to lift the arms embargo against Ethiopia, but to apply the embargo against Italy.

Meanwhile, the Co-ordinating Committee has established a sub-committee composed of British, French, Greek, Dutch, South African, Rumanian and Polish delegates, to deal with the financial questions relating to sanctions, and to tighten up any question of loans to Italy.

Another sub-committee, consisting of Britain, France, Russia and Spain, will examine the question of armaments and key munitions products.

On the suggestion of Mr. Anthony Eden it was unanimously agreed that the arms embargo against Italy should include goods under contracts already operative.

SCHEME ADOPTED

Geneva, Oct. 11.

The full Sanctions Co-ordinating Committee adopted the proposals of the sub-Committee to impose an arms embargo against Italy and raise the embargo against Ethiopia. Hungary abstained from voting.

When the full Committee meets to-morrow the Financial sub-Committee will recommend banning all financial accommodation to Italy.— Reuter.

AMERICAN ATTITUDE

LEO FROST HAS FIELD DAY

Plain View Wins Big Sweep Event

ONLY TWO PUNTERS SUCCESSFUL IN THE DAILY DOUBLE

The Second day of the Ninth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club was once again featured by a moderate attendance and poor dividends. Only one payment was over the century mark, this being returned by Plain View in the Kwang Tung Handicap when Mr. Liang paid his 74 backers $102 each.

Cash sweeps figures were also on the low side. The big sweep for the Kwangtung Handicap returned $22,365 which was won by ticket No. 14594. There were 52,550 tickets sold. Only two were successful in picking the winner in the second leg of the Daily Double and they each collected $1416.80.

Mr. Leo Frost was the most successful jockey of the day, returning four firsts and two thirds while Mr. S. Y. Liang was the next best with two firsts. Liberty Bay which was debarred from betting easily romped-home winner in the Hunan Handicap. The time returned by this pony was only 1/5th of a second behind the record set up by Diana Bay.

KIANGSI HANDICAP (FIRST SECTION) "C" CLASS

There was a moderate attendance while a slight breeze was blowing when 12 starters were set off for the First Section of the Kiangsi Handicap. Ythan led with Mistake Bay a neck behind. Mistake Bay overtook Ythan less than a hundred yards further on and gradually forged ahead and by the time the half mile post was reached High Speed and High Honour were second and third respectively. Mistake Bay continued to lead with High Speed taking second place. Soldier of Place came up strongly on the stretch to take third place only a neck behind the second

KWANGSI HANDICAP ("B" CLASS)

King's Fancy led from the start. Soldier of Germany, King's Bounty, Macaroni, and Hetman followed in the order named. The same positions were maintained right up to the quarter mile post. In the home stretch King's Bounty came up and near the 220 yards post Bright View came challenging strongly, eventually disposing of Macaroni for third place.

KATOOMBA HANDICAP

Saucy Face, Alacrity and Night Star led in the order named. Night Star coming up to take first place at the Football Stand, with Saucy Face and Southorn Cross in close attendance. The first two horses retained their positions until the quarter mile post while Streamline came up to the third position. Past the last quarter Night Star was strongly challenged by Southorn Cross and near the grand stand Alacrity came up from the rear.

Southern Cross finally came in a length ahead of Alacrity with a neck separating the latter from Night Star.

SUB-GRIFFIN AUTUMN PLATE

The 10 ponies were bunched together at the start. Wadebridge took the lead on the first approach to the stretch followed by Invermark, Double Chance and Propitous Time, and the same positions were maintained right up to the Football Stand. Double Chance was being challenged by Belmont Star and Sci-Fa at the half mile post and when the quarter mile was reached Valley View had crept up to the second position.

Wadebridge was very strongly challenged by Valley View on the stretch and the race looked as though it was going to be a very close one. Valley View managed to get past Wadebridge by half a length with Double Chance two lengths behind the second pony.

KIANGSI HANDICAP (SECOND SECTION) "C" CLASS

A very close start with Flying Tourist taking the lead featured this race. Clear View second with What A Chance third. This pony came up strongly near the last quarter, but Great Hall was going at a fast pace and gave What A Chance a great race. It was a glorious finish with What A Chance just a little ahead of Great Hall, but the latter (with Frost up) hung on gimly and reached the post a short head in front of What A Chance with Pride of Tsingtao taking third place.

HUNAN HANDICAP ("A" CLASS)

Liberty Bay took the rails and was about a length ahead of Gladiator with King's Warden taking third place. At the first quarter Soldier of Britain came up to the front disposing of Liberty Bay. Meanwhile Gladiator dropped back to the rear. At the half mile post Cossack's Beauty and Soldier of Britain were abreast. Liberty Bay regained the lead at the last quarter. Gladiator came up again and was challenged by King's Warden. Liberty Bay romped home an easy winner by four lengths. Gladiator being second and King's Warden third. As Liberty Bay was debarred from betting Gladiator paid its 641 backers $9.30 for a win. Incidentally Liberty Bay's time was only 1/5 of a second behind the record.

KWANGTUNG HANDICAP ("D" CLASS)

The starter had difficulty in getting the 15 ponies away for the race which, incidentally was for the "Big Cash Sweep" event. Zero was sent out in front with Young Chap, Boxing Eve and Tiny Star coming up in the rear Zero was still leading when the Football stand was reached. Boxing Eve and Heart's Glory coming next in order. Near the last quarter Heart's Glory and Zero were abreast with Plain View rapidly gaining ground. The last named horse gradually forged ahead and Tiny Star came up from the rear. Plain View went past Zero in the stretch with Tiny Star coming up to second place. Glad Eyes was third.

FUKIEN HANDICAP

Difficulty was again experienced in getting the big field of fifteen ponies off. Wembley Stag led all along, and High Principle was second Rain Guage and Pavahe were all going strongly at the last quarter Wembley went all out. Rain Gauge came up to the second position and Deemster, ridden by Choy Wing Hay, came in for third place.

The second Interport Cricket trial match was played on Saturday between teams captained by A. W. Hayward and G. S. Dunkley.

A feature of the game was the good bowling of E. L. Gosano who took 2 wickets for 22 runs, and A. R. Minu (1 for 5). In the first six overs he only conceded two runs.

J. E. Richardson scored 38 out of 90 in 85 minutes, hitting six boundaries, while Mackay, who was associated in a stand of 57 with Richardson, scored 40 out of 87 in 31 minutes, hitting seven boundaries.

WEEK-END SOCCER RESULTS

Club's Lucky Win Over Kowloon

POLICE HAVE EASY GAME WITH GUNNERS

A full programme of league football matches in all three divisions was carried out over the week-end when some closely contested games were seen, though the standard of soccer in some of the senior division matches was not as high as might have been expected.

The Club were rather fortunate to come away with the points when they visited Kowloon on Saturday while the Recreio—St. Joseph's game ended in the teams sharing two goals.

At Sookunpoo yesterday the Police once again demonstrated that they are serious contenders for league honours when they beat the Artillery in no uncertain manner, scoring four goals without reply. In the only second division game played yesterday Lincolns beat Radio by 6 goals to 1 in what may be best described as a one-side encounter.

FUSILIERS WIN

In a very one-sided game the Fusiliers defeated the Royal Artillery (Stonecutters) by 3 goals to nil at the Valley on Saturday.

Throughout the game the Fusiliers had the better of the exchanges, and the only good department of the R.A. team was their defence. In Price they had a brilliant right back, but he had no support whatever. Their forwards never looked like scoring, and all they could do was lob the ball into their opponents' territory. The first half ended with the score still 1 nil.

On resumption the Gunners were kept on the defensive all the time as the Fusiliers attack had lost none of its sting. Hunt had the misfortune to handle in the penalty area following a clearance by Hall and Harrison scored from the spot.

Shortly before time, Sullivan, from a very acute angle, saw his shot rebound off the upright into the net.

LINCOLNS AND E. LANCS DRAW

The Lincolns were lucky to obtain a point when they clashed with their close rivals, the E. Lancs at Sookunpoo. They only managed to draw level just before time.

The match was very evenly contested throughout, with the Lincolns having slightly the better of the exchanges. Ridley was the brains in their forward line and his display on Saturday was nothing short of brilliant. His distribution of the ball was always accurate and Huggins at centre and his wing partner Baidry were never starved.

A miskick was the result of the first goal; North in attempting to clear mistimed a shot which swerved in front of his own goal and the ever alert Huggins rushed in and scored.

The E. Lancs soon equalised through Ridings who sent in a shot which Reed did not see.

After the interval Lawton gave the East Lancs the lead with the best goal of the game. The East Lancs' jubilation was shortlived, however, for five minutes later, just before the whistle, Deeming shot directly at Harmsworth, who punched out only for Higgins to score.

RECS HOLD SAINTS

A very exciting match was witnessed at King's Park on Saturday when the Club Recreio drew with the Saint Josephs who are now leading the premier League Division. The score was 1 goal all.

The Saints soon settled down and asserted their superiority early in the game, but their forwards seemed to let things go too freely with the result that they had to be content with a single point.

The Recs had many opportunities of scoring, especially in the second half, but their feeble combination as a forward line proved once again their inability of getting anywhere near the goal.

Leonard and Hussain were two energetic halves, the former supplying many well-judged passes to G. Singh and Fernandes, but Elms, making a welcome reappearance, did not produce his best form.

St. Joseph's took the lead when Omar sent in a shot from the wing, the ball being diverted past Marques through a misunderstanding between Silva and Bowen.

Shortly before the interval the Recreio drew level through Castilho, who neatly converted a centre from Alves.

CLUB BEAT KOWLOON

A very scrappy game was seen at Kowloon when the Club just managed to beat Kowloon by 3 goals to 2.

With the exception of Strange and Sykes the Club was very weak.

Winch, the Kowloon leader and D. Knox, on their left-wing, were the most dangerous of the mainland forwards and gave the Club defence an anxious time throughout.

On the run of play Kowloon should have won, but for an unfortunate penalty awarded against them in the second half.

After a quick raid Kowloon opened their account when Rodger saved a first-time drive only to push the ball out to D. Knox who drove it into the net.

The Club soon retaliated and following one of their few good movements, Farrow scored the equaliser.

An unfortunate foul in the area gave the Club their lead when Farrow netted from the "spot" but D. Knox scored a second time for Kowlon, from a corner, to level the scores once again.

Play became very ragged from then onwards and Elliott surprisingly gave the Club victory when he hooked the ball past Boyes from a corner kick.

A very exciting game was witnessed at Sookunpoo when the Police beat Royal Artillery (Lyemoon) by 4 clear goals in a first division encounter. The Gunners were badly handicapped in the second half when they lost Fisher, who hurt his hand, and Morton was only a passenger as he had an injured knee.

At the very commencement of the game Stevens had bad luck when he drove in a hard shot only to strike the up-right. The Gunners got going and Pile and Blackburn had their hands full to keep Reece and Edmunds away.

DURHAM SAVES

Stevens who was ever a danger when within shooting distance, got control of the leather and ran through to send in a hard drive straight at Durham who made a brilliant save. Stevens again had bad luck when he had a certain goal but this was saved in the nick of time by Fisher at the expense of a corner.

The R. A. then forced a corner and Morton connected with that famous header but Pile, who was in the goal mouth cleared. Enmunds tried a dash through on his own but he was too well marked by Brooks and Gough. At this time Morton who was playing a brilliant game, had the bad luck to hurt his knee and from this stage he was merely a passenger.

POLICE SCORE

The first goal came from Green who sent in a hard shot to give the Police their first goal. Stevens received a pass from Moss and made no mistake with a beautiful drive from 10 yards out. A few minutes later Stevens got his second goal with a nice header.

Half time arrived with the score 3 goal to nil in favour of the Police.

R. A. WEAKEN

From the commencement of the second half the Police took up the offensive and were all over the R. A. who were badly handicapped by the loss of Fisher. All credit must go to Durham who was kept extremely busy and were if not for his brilliant goal keeping, the Police may have walked off with a much bigger bag.

Stevens had an open goal but he was too slow on the ball with the result that his shot was blocked, but shortly afterwards he made amends this by rushing in and scoring his third goal from a difficult angle.

The final whistle came with no change in the score.

LINCOLNS TROUNCE RADIO

In a very scrappy game at Sookunpoo the Lincolns' second team trounced the Radio seconds to the tune of 6 goals to one in a Second Division League match.

The Lincolns dominated the game throughout and their defence never found any difficulty in coping with the weak Radio attack.

In the first half the Radio goalie played a good game and was called upon time and again to save, but in the second half he lost all his shine and seemed to be very uncertain.

The Radio had a good opportunity of increasing their score when they were awarded a penalty but the spot kick went straight at Taylor who made a good save.

SHANGHAI WINS THE PRENTICE CUP

Second Interport Success

Favoured by luck and playing consistent good bowls, the Shanghai Interport Lawn Bowls team defeated Hong Kong in the second of the Interport series on Saturday at the Civil Service Cricket Club by 19 shots to 12.

The game was played in a real interport style, all eight players showing good form.

The players were introduced to His Excellency, the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith, Officer Administering the Government, and also present at the game was His Honour the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Lindsell.

For Shanghai J. W. Brierley was easily the best player, being head and shoulders above his team mates and he had McKelvie eclipsed although the Hong Kong man was playing a good game of bowls.

A. E. Coates played his usual game and was instrumental in laying some good woods. He was the only consistent player on the local side. Munroe, the Shanghai captain, had Fraser outplayed while the skips put in their share of good work. Shanghai by this victory has earned the right to keep the Prentice Cup for the next twelve months.

The scores were:—

Shanghai:—W. Train, J. W. Brierley, J. Munroe, C. W. Glover. (Skip) 19.

Hong Kong:—A. E. Coates, J. McKelvie, J. Fraser, A. M. Holland. (Skip) 12.

THE ONLY HIGHNESSES

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 16.

Princess Helena Victoria, who has been paying her annual visit to Sir Courtauld Thomson at Gullane for golf before going to Balmoral, shares with her sister, Princess Marie Louise, the distinction of being the only "Highnesses" left in Great Britain, as distinguished from Royal Highnesses. They used to be Serene Highnesses through their father, the late Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein; but when the King re-organised names and titles in the royal family in 1917 they were made Highnesses and the territorial designation of Schleswig-Holstein was dropped. Each is known by a double Christian name to avoid confusion with the King's sister, Princess Victoria, and his aunt, Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll.

Sealed tenders in triplicate which should be clearly marked "Tender for providing and fixing boundary stones to lots," will be received at the Colonial Secretary's office until noon of Monday, October 28, for providing and fixing boundary stones to lots in the Colony of Hong Kong, Kowloon, New Kowloon and the New Territories during the year 1936.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Further Drop In Scotland

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

An increase of 244,000 in the number of people in employment over last year, and a drop of 188,614 in the unemployed total, are shown in the August returns issued by the Ministry of Labour last night.

Since January there has been a decrease of over 377,000 in the total of unemployed.

In Scotland last month a reduction of 14,572 in the number of unemployed was reported.

The numbers of unemployed on the registers of Employment Exchanges at August 26 were 1,533,259 wholly unemployed, 334,419 temporarily stopped, and 80,286 normally in casual employment, making a total of 1,947,964.

That was 24,977 less than the number on the registers at July 22, and 188,614 less than a year before. The total last month comprised 1,557,022 men, 70,483 boys, 282,312 women, and 58,147 girls.

HOW INDUSTRIES FARED

The total number of insured persons in employment is estimated at approximately 10,424,000. That was 43,000 more than a month before and 244,000 more than a year before.

There was a marked improvement between July 22 and August 26 in the coalmining industry, and employment also improved in iron and steel manufacture, general engineering, shipbuilding and ship-repairing, motor vehicle, cycle, and aircraft manufacture, and the building and woollen and worsted industries.

There was a substantial reduction in the numbers registered as temporarily stopped in the jute industry following the end of local holidays. On the other hand, there was a further decline in employment in the tailoring industry, and there was also some falling-off in the distributive trades and in dock and harbour service.

AREAS COMPARED

The following table shows the changes at August 26 as compared with July 22 in the total numbers on the registers in the various administrative divisions:—

Scotland	—14,572
London	—1,978
South-Eastern	+2,503
South-Western	+2,843
Midlands	—6,403
North-Eastern	—18,329
North-Western	+10,763
Wales	+196

The improvement in the numbers of employed persons has been continuous since January. The increase of nearly 22,000 in the number of unemployed juveniles was due mainly to registrations by boys and girls who had left school at the end of the summer term. The number of unemployed men and women decreased by nearly 47,000.

LOWEST SINCE 1930

The reduction during the month in the numbers unemployed occurred chiefly in the North-Eastern and Midlands divisions—where the improvement in coal-mining was mainly felt—and in Scotland, where considerable numbers of jute workers resumed after the local holidays. There was an increase, largely seasonal, in the numbers unemployed in the North-Western division, while in London and the South of England and in Wales there was little change.

Last month's unemployed total is the lowest since July 14, 1930.

LORD LOTHIAN

On Italy's Case

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

A speech in which he stated that he took "a rather unfashionable view of the Abyssinian crisis" was made by Lord Lothian, at one time Under-Secretary for India, at a Liberal rally held yesterday at Hackness Hall, near Scarborough, the seat of Lord Derwent.

"I think," said Lord Lothian, "that the ideals of the League are not going to be achieved by the rather simple idealistic methods which so many people seem to think are necessary. I think everbody in this country has realised in the last fortnight that support of the League of Nations and its methods may be, and probably will be, an extremely onerous obligation.

"I am afraid that in some respects I take a rather unfashionable view about the Abyssinian crisis. So far as it goes, I am entirely in favour of Sir Samuel Hoare's speech at Geneva.

"But if the crisis is not to develop into something far more dangerous we must, I think, deal equally vigorously with the other side of the case.

CASE AGAINST THE LEAGUE

"Italy has some case against the League—or rather would have a case if she had ever brought it before the League—a much better case than she has against Abyssinia."

Lord Lothian said that neither Britain nor the League had yet faced the consequences of the tremendous changes which had come over the world since the war.

In the last century there was practically free migration, free trade in goods, foodstuffs, and capital all over the world.

To-day the nations were living in watertight compartments, with no migration and no freedom for trade, with the result that many had such tremendous populations and economic difficulties that they had resorted to dictatorship to maintain order at home and were adding to their armaments in order to try to solve their internal problems by actions in a foreign field.

FATAL ALLIANCE SYSTEM

"Unless the League can deal effectively with these tremendous questions," he continued, "the Abyssinian question will be swallowed up by a war about far wider issues, just as the Serbian crisis was followed up by far greater issues in 1914.

"If the League merely becomes an institution for stabilising the status quo under threat of sanctions, our last state will be far worse than our first. There will be two consequences. In the first place, all the dissatisfied Powers—and many of them quite legitimately dissatisfied—will leave the League, will remain dictatorships, and we shall get back to the old fatal alliance system, though one side will call itself the League and the other a combination to compel the League members to share the wealth and opportunity of the world with them.

"In the second place, Britain will find itself bound under the Covenant to go to war in order to maintain the status quo for everybody else because everybody wants to get the British Navy behind their security. If we get into that position we shall not only have to double our Navy and treble our Air Force but go in for conscription as well."

Those, added Lord Lothian, were the real dangers inherent in the present situation unless they made it clear that the League was willing to consider world problems, including Italy's problems, in a far bigger way than hitherto.

"I hope that Signor Mussolini will bring this aspect of Italy's problem before the League before taking unilateral action in Abyssinia, for in the long run the League system can only work if it it universal."

LADY HAIG'S APPEAL

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept 25.

Countess Haig and Grant and Murray, Edinburgh, the publishers of the book "The Man I Knew" have enrolled a reclaiming motion against the decision of Lord Carmont interdicting them from publishing the book.

This reclaiming motion will come before the Inner House of the Court of Session after the Court resumes next month.

Lord Carmont granted the interdict on the ground that a prima facie case had been made out that chapter nine of Lady Haig's work infringed the copyright of Lord Haig's trustees in the Field-Marshal's war diaries. The respondents maintained that the book was a personal memoir, and did not infringe copyright.

OLD FASHIONED BEAUTY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

It seems worth recording that an old-fashioned girl has become the beauty queen of Czechoslovakia.

Her name is Marie, and she is one of a family of six. Her father is a farmer, and Marie gets up at five every morning, and after working hard in the fields all day goes to bed at eight. She has only once been in a train, and the only dance she knows is the polka. Her only preparation for the beauty contest was to wash her face.

It is doubtful if her father will be able to find anyone to take her place.

There are also offers in the market for Coloured Stripe Poplins and Limbrics, but owing to advancing prices in Manchester and the falling rate of exchange during the past few days, these have not yet been brought to book.

ITALIAN BANK RETURN

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Milan, Oct 11.

The financial demands made as the result of the Abyssinian campaign were again clearly reflected in the returns of the Banca D'Italia dated September 30, and which has just been issued. It shows that since the last figures were published gold stock declined from 4.33 to 4.25 milliard liras while foreign currency reserves shrunk from 417.93 to 392.53 million liras.

Loans against collateral increased from 2.63 to 3.01 milliard liras while note circulation exceeded the fifteen milliard limit for the first time, having risen since the date of the last report from 14.92 to 15.27 milliard liras.—

DANZIG AGREEMENT

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Danzig, Oct 11.

Two important agreements regulating the future economic relations between Danzig and Poland were signed in the Free City on Friday, after negotiations lasting for several weeks.

The first agreement finally disposed of the differences which arose from the gulden devaluation and the subsequent currency restrictions. The second protocol prolongs last year's harbour agreement for another year.—

THE STRIKE SPREAD

America Fears Tie-up

Houston (Texas), Oct. 11.

The strike of longshoremen in ports of Alabama and Florida, which has lasted for seven days, is spreading further along the east coast.

Three thousand longshoremen, mainly from ports of Texas, joined the strike to-day, according to the International Longshoremen's Association.

Meanwhile, New York officials of the Association declare that within ten days New York shipping will be paralysed unless a satisfactory settlement is reached.

The strike at present covers all the gulf ports in Texas. It originated in New Orleans on the question of wages and recognition of the Dockers' Unions.—

DRIVE FOR FLOOD FUNDS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Nanking, Oct. 8.

In view of the sufferings of the flood refugees in various provinces along the Yangtze and the Yellow River as a result of the protracted flood disaster, various organizations in this country have started a drive for funds for flood relief purposes.

Different plans are being followed by the various organizations to raise these funds. These include solicitations for contributions from individuals and organizations, contribution of a part of their salaries by the staff of government offices and other means that are available.

A total of approximately $3,000,000, representing the 50% deduction from salaries of public functionaries in the various government organs for the month of September, has been collected by the Ministry of Finance for flood relief purpose in accordance with the Central Government's decision. This sum, it is learned, will be transferred to the Central Bank of China which in turn will remit the money to the flood relief organs in various affected districts.—

BAD CONDITIONS FOR ASTRONOMERS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 25.

The Royal Observatory is troubled by the pollution of the Greenwich atmosphere, but there is no likelihood of its moving to another site for some time.

The Astronomer Royal, Dr. H. Spencer Jones, told me to-day writes a conespondent, that smoke from two generating stations affected the observatory at times, and hot air condensed on instruments. But smoke from domestic was more troublesome.

CLEAR SKIES

"My general impression is that conditions are getting worse," he said, "but we want substantial proof of that before we think of moving."

Where would the observatory go? Dr. Spencer Jones says that much research would have to be made before another site could be selected.

The essential would be a clear sky, and the second a "good distribution" of clear ky. A place with a clear sky all the summer and murky conditions in the winter would be useless.

TWINKLING HANDICAP

Then there is the "quality of seeing." The brilliant night with all the stars twinkling is useless to the astronomer because the atmosphere is disturbed.

The site must offer the best compromise of these qualities, and the Astronomer Royal does not know where he can find it at present.

The tme instruments would probably be left on the present site; "G.M.T." would be unaffected.
